To those of us
( we the people )
in charge,

The bullet points are endless
safety
noise
not respecting the beauty of our wild places . . .

Exactly who will be liable when the accidents occur
( I suspect it will be the town )

etc
etc
etc

Pitkin is gone.
Moab is gone.
I suppose it is inevitable that Lake City is next.

We Homo Sapiens
( Sapiens, in my judgement, being an inaccurate descriptive turn of phrase )
are at a very dangerous point in our history.

Product, growth, and greed must end.
A new paradigm of respect and service,
permission and accountability must begin if we are to keep from further fouling our home the earth.

I wish to speak for the water
the air
the thin organic topsoil
that nourishes not only us but all creatures.

Please use your power not to incentify the worldview of money but rather to advocate for the awakening of our ability to say no.

I would ask that you respect the habitat and it's denizens, protecting this high mountain wonderland ~ thereby granting an opportunity for your grandchildren and mine to appreciate the wild.

Most sincerely,

Kent [REDACTED]
