Redline

Opening an Editable Redline File

Did you know that if a file is opened in a read only mode, then there are only a few commands that are allowed in Redline. It will be very obvious to you as the icons will not look anything like the training. You will be in a "View" only mode. Also check in the lower right hand corner of the screen, to see if there is a Red "X". If so the file is being opened as read only. In order to open the file for Redline use, try using Start > all programs > Bentley Redline > and select the Bentley Redline executable. You can right click on the executable and send to desktop for a shortcut to the command in the future.
