

Dewatering Permit

Photo Source: Colorado Department of Transportation

02-0022-11

Dewatering Permit

Photo Source: Colorado Department of Transportation

02-0022-11

Dewatering Permit

Photo Source: Colorado Department of Transportation

02-0022-11

Dewatering Permit

Photo Source: Colorado Department of Transportation

02-0022-11

Dewatering Permit

During construction activities, groundwater may be encountered during excavation which may need to be discharged. Before this discharge can occur, a certification under the Construction Dewatering (CDW) general permit is required from the Water Quality Control Division of the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment.

Depending on the type of discharge, the CDW permit may require water sampling and implementation of one or more Best Management Practices.

Dewatering Permit

During construction activities, groundwater may be encountered during excavation which may need to be discharged. Before this discharge can occur, a certification under the Construction Dewatering (CDW) general permit is required from the Water Quality Control Division of the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment.

Depending on the type of discharge, the CDW permit may require water sampling and implementation of one or more Best Management Practices.

Dewatering Permit

During construction activities, groundwater may be encountered during excavation which may need to be discharged. Before this discharge can occur, a certification under the Construction Dewatering (CDW) general permit is required from the Water Quality Control Division of the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment.

Depending on the type of discharge, the CDW permit may require water sampling and implementation of one or more Best Management Practices.

Dewatering Permit

During construction activities, groundwater may be encountered during excavation which may need to be discharged. Before this discharge can occur, a certification under the Construction Dewatering (CDW) general permit is required from the Water Quality Control Division of the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment.

Depending on the type of discharge, the CDW permit may require water sampling and implementation of one or more Best Management Practices.

