

The bus enters its dedicated bus only lane to bypass general traffic

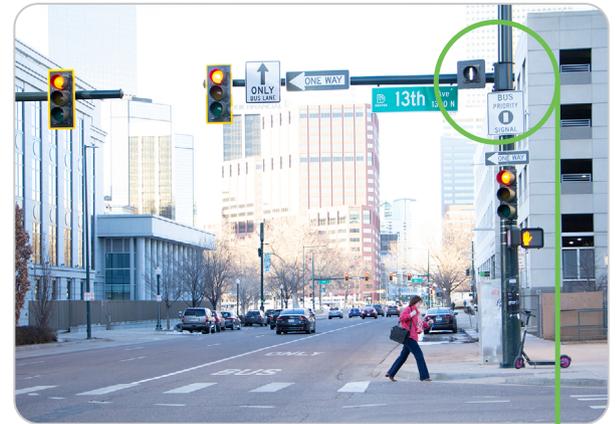

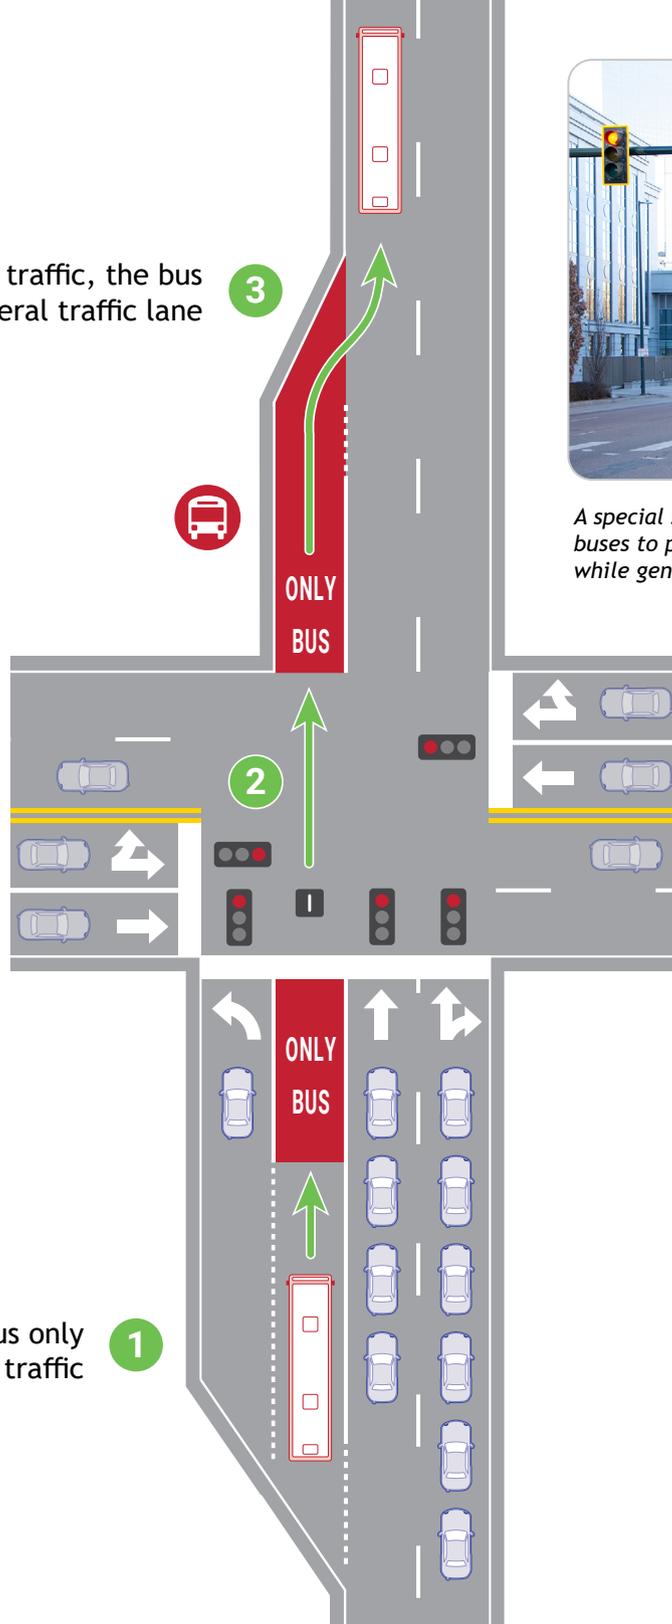

1

The separate bus only signal gives the bus a head start at the intersection

2

After jumping ahead of traffic, the bus rejoins the general traffic lane

3

A special signal with a vertical line tells buses to proceed through the intersection while general traffic waits at the red light

